CONTAGIOUS

Diseases are Prevalent all Over the World.

I am a native of England, and while I was in that country I contracted a terrible blood polso, and for two years was under treatment a no outdoor patient at Nottingham Hospital, England, but was not cured. I suffered the most agouizing pains in my hone, and was covered with sores allower my body and limbs. I had verrigo and destroes, with partial loss of sight, severe pains in my head and week at ... which nearly ran mecracy. I lost all hope in that country, and selled for merica, and was treated at R osewell in this city, as well as by a prominent physician in New York having no connection with the heapitals.

I saw the advertisement of Swift's Specific, and I determined to give it a trial as a last resort. I had given up a'll hope of being cured, as I had gone through the han sof the best medical men in Nottingham and New York. I took six bottles of S. S. S., and I can saw with great joy that they have cured—e entirely. I am as sound and well as I ever was in my life.

Is the life, and he is wise who remembers it. But in March of last year (1884, I contracted blood poison, and being in Savannah, Ga., at the time, I went into the hospital there for treatment. I suffere very much from rheumatism at the same time. I did not get well under the treatment there, nor was I cured by any of the usus means. I have now taken seven bottles of Swift's ripe iffe and am sund and well. It drove the poison out through boils on the skin. DAN LEAHY.

TORTOISE SHELLS.

Where They Come From and How They Are Polished and Made Up. The reportation and manufacture of tortoise shell into combs, hairpins and other articles of that nature has grown to be an immense business.

"I have had forty years' experience in the trade," said the proprietor of an uptown tortoise shell comb factory to a reporter, "and have during my career bought enough shell to fill the Great Eastern."

"Where do you get it from?"

"It is found in several parts of the globe, viz.: Florida Keys, Bermudas, Honduras and across to Africa, around the globe to the East Indies and China and on the Pacific coast to Cape St. Lucas. Notice it is confined to the same latitude in different countries, which is called the shell belt."

"Are there many varieties of shells?"
"There are three varieties. The real or genuine tortoise, from which the finest specimens of shells are obtained, finest specimens of shells are obtained, is called the Hawkbill, or eagle of the air. Next comes the Loggerhead turtle, a degenerate, which furnishes a very inferior quality and can not produce those beautiful colors like eagle. Last the green turtle, which for shell purposes is almost good for nothing. The real tortoise has thirteen distinct and separate pieces of shell distributed over his back, designated as follows: Four kite pieces, one head piece, four backbones, two hips and two tail pieces. The extreme edges of a tortoise shell are called calipers or ages, and from are called calipers or ages, and from these the finest amber colored shell is produced. The bottom of the foot, just beneath the toenails, the shell taken therefrom is also amber-colored."
"Can the shell of a land turtle be utilized in a comb factory?"
"It is considered worthless for comb purposes. Yet it is susceptible of being highly polished, and many fine jewelry boxes are made of it. Carbuncles freboxes are made of it. Carbuncles frequently get on real tortoise shell, eat through and produce a faulty shell, just as a knot in a fine piece of pine timber ruins its grain. The price of the real shell, select quality of cliff (the hips are considered the best pieces and always called cliff) is nine dollars a pound. The caliper and toe-nail shell sells from seventy-five cents to three dollars and fifty cents a pound. But when it is worked up, polished, etc., it is worth treble the original cost."

"Can shell be dissolved?"

"No, it can not be dissolved or certain acids, otherwise it is indestructible. East India shell and Honduras shell can not be welded together, owing to some difference in their temperatures. Florida Keys and West Indies shell works better than any other. The African and East Indies shell is harder and possessed of a more brilliant color, but has the fault of being too brittle. Shell is a conductor and not porous, because it can not be dissolved. Dark colors usually pre-dominate in all specimens of shell. It is considered the healthiest article yet to come in contact with the hair and scalp. It is a boon to womankind and is manufactured specially for their

"What is the process of manufacturing?"

"The shell is first placed in cold water and allowed to soak for some time. Then it is placed in boiling water for several hours. After this another soak is given in cold salt water and a final boil in pure fresh water prepares it for the workman. It kept pliable and at a certain temperature until worked into the shape or design required. The final polish is then given and the armor of the rough saurian of the sea is sold to adorn the head of some fair woman."-N. Y. Mail and Express.

Rear Admiral Luce, of the United States navy, and General de Trobriand. of the army, lunched at a restaurant, The check was for three dollars and thirty-five cents. A five dollar bill was handed to the water, and presently he returned with a check and change on a plate. A one dollar note, a dime and five cents lay atop of the slip of paper, under which was concealed a half dollar. The General took up the note, left the fifteen cents as a tip, and got up to depart with his friend. thundered the Admiral to the waiter. "Set down that plate." "Yes, saire," responded the Frenchman. "Now, General, look at this and learn a les son," the Admiral continued. change out of the five dollar bill ought to have amounted to one dollar and sixty-five cents. You got only one dol-lar and gave fifteen cents to this rascal. You never thought of the missing half dollar. Where do you suppose it is? I will show you," and he drew the check off the plate, disclosing the coin snugly lying underneath. "Our grimacing thief here would have had it safe in his pocket by this time if left to complete the operation. If you had stopped to count your change, and discovered that it was short, he would have picked up the plate, deftly drawn aside the check. and shown you that the right amount was there."-N. Y. Sun.

DESERVES KILLING

A Villain in Maine Who Invented a Machine

to Abolish Husking Bees.
The romance of corn-husking has gone. In the good old times when the corn was ripe for the harvest the farmer would gather it in great heaps around his barn, and while the moon was at the full invite the neighbors to a husking party. The farmers' girls and boys would come from far and near, and in a few short hours the bushels of ears would be stowed away in the cornhouse, while the boys searched eagerly for the red cars that, according to cus-tom, gave them the privilege of claiming a kiss from some one of the blushing, rosy-cheeked damsels of the company. Then, after the work was done, the happy couples enjoyed the ample feast of pumpkin pie, apples and cider, while the joke and merriment went on often ending in an old-fashioned dance in the ample barn or on the well-scrubbed kitchen floor. But.now, after years of labor, an inventive genius "down in Maine" has invented a cornhusking machine which is said to do the work complete, making no pause when a red car comes along, doing the work of twenty-five men. Thus is passing away one of the rare and radiant occas ons for fun in country life, about which the rustic dreams and the farmer lass paints lovely mind-pictures framed with red ears and kisses. - Boston Globe

MINSTRELSY AT NIBLO'S GARDEN.

The following is taken from the New York Telegram of Nov. 3: Thatcher, Primrose and West's Minstrels, now singing at Noblo's Garden, are the best this country has ever heard or seen. We are inclined to think that their equals have never existed in the world. George Thatcher can tell a story with more genuine hesitancy and overwhelming effect than any burnt cork artist in the business, and Billy Rice's unction, insouciance and mellituousness are exeruciating. These gentlemen could be trusted to soothe the battered feeling of a disappointed candidate. Messrs. Primrose and West furnish the grace for these worthies' wits, and conjoined the quartet is a host. Moreover, there are such singing, such dancing, such acrobats, such dogs and really such funny sayings that the organiza-tion is irresistible. Therefore it is not to be wondered at that the house was crowded last night and that conjecture sees it packed
